I SEE OLD PEOPLE WINS LITERARY TITAN GOLD AWARD

Sammamish, Washington - October 2021 – Literary Titan Book Awards announced its October winners. One of the winning entries was from Washington author Jeanne Corvese Hussin whose book titled I See Old People won the Gold category.

The Gold Award is given to authors whose books feature original content and meticulous development of unique characters in an organic and striking setting. A detailed review of the book is featured on their website and can be found here: Literary Titan Book Review.

Author Jeanne Hussin says, “It’s thrilling to receive an award from an organization that supports writers and readers while looking for books that inspire and challenge the imagination. They believe books can make the impossible possible.”

Hussin notes her memoir is intended to give people hope, spread joy and encourage giving back. Her passion is helping to support seniors and caregivers who deal daily with memory challenges. A portion of the book's net proceeds are earmarked for causes benefitting seniors with dementia and Alzheimer's.

I See Old People is available for purchase on Amazon. Hussin is also available for speaking engagements and podcasts through her #bekindtour.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Jeanne Corvese Hussin is chief marketing officer for a financial services company based in Seattle. A compelling story teller, she has over 30 years' experience in brand marketing and public speaking. In her autobiography, I See Old People, she shows how to lead with compassion and shares her remarkable love story.
